The monopolistic behaviour of Microsoft damages software developers and users in Australia and the rest of the world as well as in the USA.

I urge you most strongly to pull this renegade company into line and force it to shed its monopoly power.

For far too long the world has had to put up with second rate software (bloatware) because this company can get away with it and stifle much better software from ever getting to the market.

I hope the anti trust actions over the past 5 years are going to achieve something of significance. The last offer from Microsoft was an absolute insult to all concerned.

Yours sincerely
